Report in Relation to Rates of Levies Prescribed in the Accident Compensation (Work Account Levies) Regulations 2017 and the Accident Compensation (Earners' Levy) Regulations 2017

Sections 331(5A) and 331(5B) of the Accident Compensation Act 2001 ("Act") require the Accident Compensation Corporation (ACC) to prepare a report in relation to the rates of levies prescribed in regulations in accordance with generally accepted practice within the insurance sector in New Zealand.

This report relates to the Work and Earners' Accounts and their respective levies for the two years from 1 April 2017. It provides information about the expected long-term impacts of the 2017/19 levy rates for those Accounts and describes long-term projections of each Account's finances along with key assumptions on which the projections are based. Appendices A and B provide more information about the projections and assumptions.¹

Unless otherwise stated, all rates in this report are expressed exclusive of GST.

Work Account	Earners' Account
Average levy rate per $100 of liable earnings	Average levy rate per $100 of liable earnings
$0.72	$1.21

The Accident Compensation Scheme

ACC is a Crown agent providing comprehensive, no-fault personal injury cover to all New Zealand residents and visitors to New Zealand.

ACC cover is managed under five separate Accounts including the Work Account and the Earners' Account (the levied Accounts). ACC collects levies to fund both these Accounts.

The Work Account covers claims for all work-related injuries. The Work Levy is paid by employers and self-employed people working in New Zealand and is expressed as a rate per $100 of liable earnings. The average levy, reported here, is the rate that all employers and self-employed people in New Zealand would pay if ACC charged a flat levy rate. The actual rate paid by each business differs from the average rate and is determined by the claims experience of its classification unit, individual business' claims experience, and any ACC safety incentive products and programmes a business participates in.

The Earners' Account covers claims for non-work personal injuries for employed persons (including self-employed) not including motor vehicle injuries. The Earners' Levy is a flat rate paid by all employees and self-employed on their liable earnings up to a defined maximum and is expressed as a rate per $100 of liable earnings. It includes a component to fund earner claims in the Treatment Injury Account.

The Levy-Setting Process

Work and Earners' Accounts' levies are set by regulation under the authority of sections 167, 218, 219, 244, 329 and 333 of the Act.

ACC reviews the expected costs of the levied Accounts to determine the levy rates required to meet the lifetime cost of claims in the upcoming period, along with funding adjustments to move each Account towards its funding target. The ACC Board ("Board") undertakes public consultation before recommending levy rates to the Minister for ACC.² Cabinet sets the levy rates for the forthcoming levy period after considering the Board's recommendations, along with the public interest as required by section 300 of the Act.

Principles of Financial Responsibility in Relation to the Levied Accounts

Section 166A of the Act requires the cost of all claims under the levied Accounts to be fully funded. To achieve full funding when setting levies, section 166A requires the Minister for ACC to have regard to the following principles:

- The levies derived for each levied Account should meet the lifetime costs of claims made during the levy year.
- If an Account has a deficit or surplus of funds to meet the costs of claims incurred in past periods, that surplus or deficit is to be corrected by setting levies at an appropriate level for subsequent years.
- Large changes in levies are to be avoided.

These principles provide guidance on how to balance the trade-off between funding stability and levy stability.

The Government's Funding Policy

The funding policy issued by the Minister for ACC on 10 May 2016 (outlined below) specifies how ACC is to balance these principles when recommending levies for each levied Account. ACC must recommend levies for each levied Account consistent with the funding policy.

The funding policy requires that:

- Levy rates must be based on the estimated lifetime costs of claims expected to occur during the levy period (new-year claim costs).
- Accounts will aim to hold assets between 100% and 110% of the outstanding claims liability, with a midpoint funding ratio target of 105%.
- A funding adjustment must be included that takes each Account's funding position to the 105% target smoothly over a ten-year horizon.
- Any increase to the levy rates for each Account must not exceed 15% (in addition to the Labour Cost Index (LCI) for the Motor Vehicle Account).

The funding policy is consistent with the principles in section 166A of the Act.

Variations in claims and economic experience are expected for a scheme such as ACC. The ten-year horizon allows for a gradual return of an Account's funding ratio towards the target and is expected to result in relatively small ongoing changes in levy rates. A shorter horizon would result in a more rapid return to the target funding ratio, but also larger changes in levy rates.

Levy rates are recommended and set every two years. The effect of this is to reset the funding horizon every two years. All other things being equal, this will mean that an Account's funding ratio will approach the target, but never fully arrive at it. As the funding ratio approaches the target, funding adjustments will decrease and levy rates will more closely reflect new-year claim costs.

Another way to consider the funding policy is that it determines both how quickly the funding ratio approaches the funding target and the levy rate approaches new year claim costs. Any deviation from the funding policy changes the expected trajectory towards these targets.

In practice, experience will not exactly match what was assumed when recommending levy rates, and therefore levies are expected to vary around the best estimate forecasts shown in this report.

The levies recommended to the Minister for ACC by the Board for 2017/19, as well as those indicated for subsequent out-years, for both the Work Account and the Earners' Account, were consistent with the funding policy.

Assumptions Underlying the Projections for the Work and Earners' Accounts

Projections in this report are based on the assumptions underlying the 2017/19 levy rate recommendations made by ACC, but with prescribed rather than recommended levy rates where these differ.

The 2017/19 levy rates consulted on and recommended by the Board to the Minister for ACC were determined based on the following:

- claims experience trends up to 31 March 2016. Increases in costs, compared to the previous consultation, have been driven by a higher than expected number of weekly compensation and medical claims, and claims remaining active longer than previously projected. These trends have been reflected by allowing for:
 - an increase in projected claim volumes particularly for claims receiving weekly compensation which, in addition to population growth, are assumed to continue increasing at around 2% per annum over the next three years before flattening off. This assumed increase is lower than recent claims volume growth of around 6%;
 - a small increase in the projected duration of weekly compensation claims. The reflected increase is less than recent experience implies; and
 - superimposed inflation estimated at 2-5% for various types of medical treatment and social rehabilitation;
- estimates of future investment returns given current and expected future market conditions as at 31 March 2016; and
- risk-free interest rates as implied by the New Zealand Government bond yield curve derived as at 30 April 2016. This is inconsistent with the timing of other economic assumptions, however this has no material impact on levy paths.

See Appendix C for an explanation of these terms.

A. The Work Account

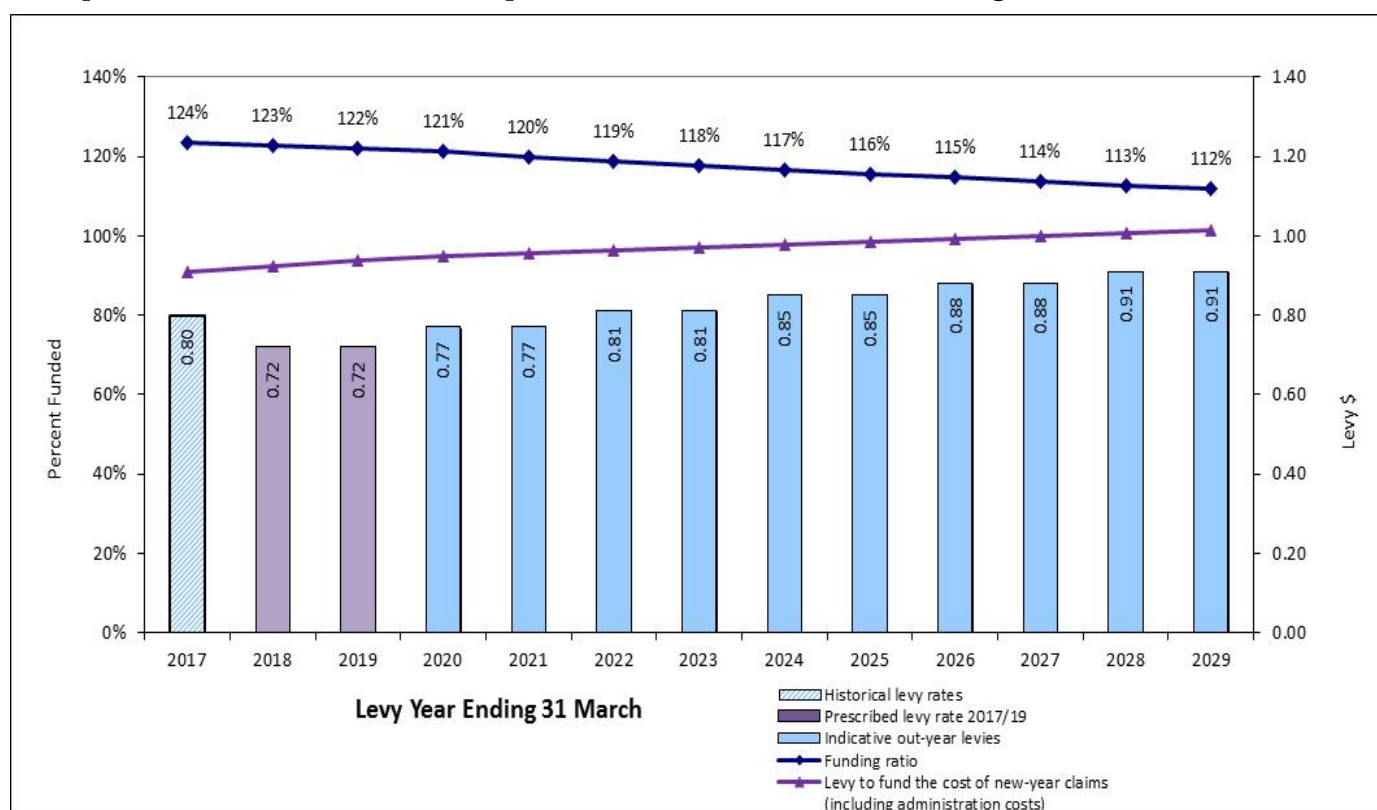

Prescribed Work Account Levy Rates for the 2017/19 Levy Period (1 April 2017 to 31 March 2019)

Following public consultation, the Board recommended that the Government reduce the Work Account average levy by 10%, from $0.80 to $0.72 per $100 liable earnings for the 2017/19 levy period. Expected claims costs have increased, driven primarily by more claims receiving weekly compensation. This has been more than offset by changes in economic factors.

The recommended rates, as well as the indicative out-year levy rates in the Board’s consultation, were consistent with the funding policy. Cabinet agreed to the rates recommended by the Board, and the rates have now been prescribed in the Accident Compensation (Work Account Levies) Regulations 2017.

Levy rates have been set at a level below new-year claim costs so as to result in an expected deficit of $82 million for the levy period, and to reduce the expected funding ratio from 124% to 122% by 31 March 2019. Indicative future levy rates, shown below, gradually move the Work Account’s funding ratio towards the funding target.

Figure 2: Long-term projected average Work Account levy rates and funding ratios allowing for levy rates prescribed in the Accident Compensation (Work Account Levies) Regulations 2017

B. The Earners’ Account

Prescribed Earners’ Account Levy Rate for the 2017/19 Levy Period (1 April 2017 to 31 March 2019)

Following public consultation, the Board recommended that the Government raise the Earners’ Account levy by 3%, from $1.21 to $1.25 per $100 liable earnings for the 2017/19 levy period. Expected claims costs have increased, driven primarily by more claims receiving weekly compensation and by claims remaining on the scheme for longer than previously projected. The relatively short duration of liabilities for this Account, which don’t respond as strongly to changes in economic conditions as the other levied Accounts, means that expected claim costs are only partially offset by changes in discount rates and assumed investment returns.

The recommended rate, as well as the indicative out-year levy rates in the Board’s consultation, were consistent with the funding policy. Cabinet decided to keep the rate unchanged at $1.21, and this rate has now been prescribed in the Accident Compensation (Earners’ Levy) Regulations 2017.

Levy rates have been set at a level below new-year claim costs so as to result in an expected deficit of $213 million for the levy period, and to reduce the expected funding ratio from 123% to 118% by 31 March 2019. Indicative future levy rates, shown below, gradually move the Earners' Account's funding ratio towards the funding target. Cabinet adopted a lower rate than that recommended by the Board. The impact of this is that over the next two years the funding position will move towards the target more quickly than envisaged under the funding policy. All else being equal, future levy rates will need to increase more quickly than would have otherwise been the case in order for levy rates to ultimately return to the level of new year claim costs.

It is expected, using the assumptions underlying the 2017/19 recommendation, that the Board will recommend that the 2019/21 levy rate increase by 9% ($1.21 to $1.32), instead of by 5% ($1.25 to $1.31). The actual 2019/21 levy rate recommendation will vary from these forecasts depending on claims and economic experience. After this projected initial adjustment for the lower expected 31 March 2019 solvency position, future levy rate increases are expected to be similar to those projected for the 2017/19 consultation, under the funding policy. The probability of the funding position falling below 100% in the short to medium term is low, given the current funding position of the Account.

Figure 3: Long-term projected Earners' Account levy rates and funding ratios allowing for the levy rate prescribed in the Accident Compensation (Earners' Levy) Regulations 2017

Changes Since 31 March 2016

At 31 December 2016 the funding ratios for both Accounts were close to those forecast using 31 March 2016 assumptions. The actual and expected funding ratios are shown in Figure 4 below.

	Funding ratio (31 December 2016 as projected at 31 March 2016)	Actual funding ratio (31 December 2016)
Work Account	123%	125%
Earners' Account	123%	122%

The difference between these expected and actual funding ratios will have an immaterial impact on future levy requirements.

Conclusion

The levy rates recommended by the Board to the Minister for ACC were consistent with the funding policy. Cabinet has set the Earners' Account levy at a rate lower than that recommended by the Board. As a result, all else being equal, future recommended levy rates will be higher than would otherwise have been the case in order to meet the funding target set out in the funding policy. Recommended rates in the next levy round are expected to increase significantly and then increase gradually over time.

The following table compares the components of the 2017/19 prescribed average levy rate with those of the 2016/17 rate. The first column shows the components of the 2016/17 prescribed levy rate derived for the 2016/17 levy consultation. The second column shows how the estimates of new-year claim costs and administration costs for the same year differ when calculated using the revised assumptions used for the 2017/19 levy period. The third column then shows how these costs have changed for the new levy period.

Trend in Underlying Costs Levy per $100 liable earnings	Initial 2016/17 (last year's assessment)	Current 2016/17 (this year's assessment)	Prescribed 2017/19 levy rate
---	--	--	------------------------------

To fund the cost of new claims during the new levy year	$0.64	$0.66	$0.67
To fund administration costs	$0.27	$0.25	$0.26
Funding adjustment	-$0.11		-$0.21
Average Work Levy rate	$0.80		$0.72

The estimate of claim costs for 2016/17 has increased reflecting higher volumes of new claims than anticipated. In addition, projections for claim durations have been increased to reflect recent trends in rehabilitation performance. 2017/19 claim costs are projected to increase compared with the 2016/17 estimate because of medical and rehabilitation cost inflation (above the Labour Cost Index (LCI)).

In addition, projections for claim durations have been increased to reflect recent trends in rehabilitation performance. 2017/19 claim costs are projected to increase compared with the 2016/17 estimate because of medical and rehabilitation cost inflation (above the Labour Cost Index (LCI)). Allowance has also been made for a projected increase in claim numbers above population growth.

Appendix C: Explanatory Notes

Funding Adjustment

This is the adjustment to levy rates which is used to move the funding ratio of an Account towards the funding target. The impact of funding adjustments is that levy rates will be higher or lower than the level needed to fund the cost of new-year claim costs (including administration costs).

Funding Ratio

The funding ratio is the ratio of each Account's assets to liabilities. It is a measure of whether the Accounts have sufficient assets to meet the outstanding claims liability. Solvency is another term for funding ratio.

The liability for incurred but not reported work-related gradual process disease and infection claims is included when calculating the Work Account funding ratio.

Funding Target

ACC's funding target is a funding ratio of 105%. This is the midpoint of the funding band of 100% to 110%.

Investment Returns

The expected returns are based on current strategic asset allocations and are consistent with ACC's long-term expected returns for the various asset classes that make up the total investment reserves. They allow for ACC's tax status.

Labour Cost Index

The Labour Cost Index (LCI) measures changes in salary and wage rates for a fixed quantity and quality of labour input.

New-Year Claim Costs

Claims that occur during a new levy year. New-year claim costs are the net present value of the estimated lifetime cost of those claims.

Outstanding Claims Liability

The Outstanding Claims Liability (OCL) is an actuarial estimate of net present value of all future costs for accidents that have already happened including an allowance for claims incurred but not reported, and re-opened claims.

Risk-free Interest Rates

The risk-free interest rate is the theoretical rate of return of an investment with zero risk. It represents the nominal return an investor would expect from an absolutely risk-free investment over a given period of time.

3. Term—This exemption expires on the close of 31 August 2017.

4. Reasons for granting the exemption—The reasons for granting this exemption are:

Electricity Industry (Exemption No. 256 (Genesis Energy Limited)) Exemption Notice 2017

In accordance with section 11 of the Electricity Industry Act 2010 (“Act”), the Electricity Authority (“Authority”) gives the following notice.

Notice

1. Title and commencement—(1) This notice is the Electricity Industry (Exemption No. 256 (Genesis Energy Limited)) Exemption Notice 2017.

(2) This notice comes into force on 1 March 2017.

2. Exemption—Genesis Energy Limited (“Genesis”) is exempted from complying with the obligation in clause 15.8 of the Electricity Industry Participation Code 2010 (“Code”) to provide the reconciliation manager with Genesis’ total monthly quantity of electricity supplied for each half-hourly (“HHR”) metered installation control point (ICP) that has a category 1 or 2 advanced metering infrastructure (AMI) meter and is reconciled as HHR.

3. Term—This exemption expires at the close of 1 October 2017.

4. Reasons for granting the exemption—The reasons for granting this exemption are:

- a. the exemption will prevent inefficient investment in manual systems by Genesis while a Code amendment is being considered;
- b. Authority staff are considering whether to recommend that a Code amendment is necessary and, if one is necessary, what form it will take. This is because monthly HHR aggregated information was originally intended to be used to ensure that all HHR data was submitted by traders for legacy (commercial and industrial) HHR metering installations at the time that an ICP was switched and not for AMI HHR metering installations; and
- c. granting the requested exemption meets the requirements in section 11(2) of the Act.

Dated at Wellington this 23rd day of February 2017.

General Section

Notice of Replacement and Revocation of Notice for Nurse Practitioners

Commencement

This notice is given under sections 11 and 12 of the Health Practitioners Competence Assurance Act 2003 and comes into effect on 6 April 2017.

On 6 April 2017 it replaces the notice published in the New Zealand Gazette, 29 May 2014, Issue No. 56, page 1590.

Explanatory note

Introduction

Under the Health Practitioners Competence Assurance Act 2003, the Nursing Council of New Zealand (“Council”) is required to describe the scopes of practice for nursing in New Zealand and prescribe the qualifications for each scope of practice.

Nurse practitioners are registered nurses who have completed further education and clinical training to enable them to be responsible for providing advanced nursing care and diagnosing and treating health conditions. Nurse practitioners were first registered in 2001. In 2014 the restrictions on nurse practitioner prescribing rights were removed and they became authorised prescribers under the Medicines Act 1981.

Changes coming into effect on 6 April 2017

In December 2014, the Council proposed broadening the nurse practitioner scope of practice to ensure it remains safe, flexible and appropriate to meet health needs; describes the health services the nurse practitioner provides; and differentiates the nurse practitioner from advanced registered nurse roles (including prescribing).

The Council also proposed that the requirement to restrict a nurse practitioner’s scope of practice to a specific area of practice be removed. The reason for this was to allow greater flexibility for nurse practitioner roles as health services change to meet health needs. The Council believes that nurse practitioners as advanced clinicians are able to ensure they practise within their area of competence and experience.

The Council also proposed that the educational programmes for nurse practitioners have standardised outcomes and specified clinical learning time to improve a student’s readiness for registration as a nurse practitioner on completion of the programme. The Council also proposed that the postgraduate diploma in registered nurse prescribing for long-term and common conditions be a prerequisite for the nurse practitioner Masters’ education programmes thereby creating a clearer qualification and career pathway for registered nurses who wish to become nurse practitioners.

The Council sought the views of stakeholders including nurses, nurse practitioners, education programme providers, health professional organisations, regulatory authorities and consumer groups. The consultation was also available on the Council’s website for public comment. The majority of submitters (77%) supported a broad generic scope of practice on the basis that the broad scope would increase flexibility to meet future health needs, increase understanding and acceptance of the role, increase nurse practitioner utilisation in health services and improve access for hard to reach populations. There was strong support for the focus on leadership in the scope of practice to be on clinical practice as the role is seen as being primarily clinically focused.

The majority of submitters (75%) supported a more standardised education programme and supported Council specifying dedicated clinical learning time (72%). The postgraduate diploma in registered nurse prescribing for long-term and common conditions as a prerequisite was not supported by 54% of submitters as potentially creating an unnecessary barrier for students.

In September 2015, the Council approved changes to the nurse practitioner scope of practice and agreed to introduce new education standards for nurse practitioner education programmes incorporating the programme outcomes of the postgraduate diploma in registered nurse prescribing for long-term and common conditions, and specified clinical learning time. The Council also agreed that registered nurses undertaking nurse practitioner programmes could still register with a condition to practise in a specific area for a period of 18 months until 30 September 2018. The change to the scope of practice and prescribed qualifications was delayed until the Council completed a consultation on the education programme standards and competencies.

The Council also consulted on removing the prescribed qualification to pass an assessment against the nurse practitioner competencies by a Council approved panel. This proposal was only supported by a minority of submitters (17%) with most submitters believing Council should remain involved. The Council decided to retain the panel assessment of competence at this time.

Some nurse practitioners who do not prescribe will continue to have a condition included in their scope of practice that they may not prescribe as an authorised prescriber. These conditions will be endorsed on their practising certificate and on the public register available on the Council's website at www.nursingcouncil.org.nz.

Previous notice

The Council last published the scope of practice and prescribed qualifications for nurse practitioners in the New Zealand Gazette, 29 May 2014, Issue No. 56, page 1590.

Dated at Wellington this 27th day of February 2017.

CAROLYN REED, Registrar, Nursing Council of New Zealand.

Scope of Practice - Nurse Practitioner

Nurse practitioners have advanced education, clinical training and the demonstrated competence and legal authority to practise beyond the level of a registered nurse. Nurse practitioners work autonomously and in collaborative teams with other health professionals to promote health, prevent disease, and improve access and population health outcomes for a specific patient group or community. Nurse practitioners manage episodes of care as the lead healthcare provider in partnership with health consumers and their families/whānau. Nurse practitioners combine advanced nursing knowledge and skills with diagnostic reasoning and therapeutic knowledge to provide patient-centred healthcare services including the diagnosis and management of health consumers with common and complex health conditions. They provide a wide range of assessment and treatment interventions, ordering and interpreting diagnostic and laboratory tests, prescribing medicines within their area of competence and admitting and discharging from hospital and other healthcare services/settings. As clinical leaders they work across healthcare settings and influence health service delivery and the wider profession.

Prescribed qualification

- a. Registration with the Nursing Council of New Zealand in the registered nurse scope of practice; and
- b. a minimum of four years of experience in an area of practice; and
- c. the completion of an approved clinical Master's degree programme for the nurse practitioner scope of practice. The programme must include relevant theory and a minimum of 300 hours of clinical learning; and/or
- d. the completion of an equivalent overseas clinically focused Master's degree qualification which meets the requirements specified in c. above; and
- e. passing an assessment against the nurse practitioner competencies by a Council approved panel.
